The Start of a New Term

The sun is still just about shining! We have had a fabulous few weeks of sunny weather to help make us all feel happier. Not everyone will have been on holiday these past 2 weeks, teachers included, but we hope everyone has been able to enjoy some time together with their families and if you celebrated Easter that you had an amazing time. Remember you can send any photos of the fun you have had and pictures or work to:

We have been having lots of discussions about how our Home Learning will look next term and there are lots of exciting things planned!! Look out for more information in emails and also on our blog. Each year group will be starting a new topic. With these there will be lot of new fun things to discover. We hope the weather continues to be kind so lots of learning can happen outdoors, but even if we do have days where it is rainy there are still plenty of fun things we can be doing inside.

Teacher Feature

Hello children. This week I have been really enjoying spending time with my family. We have sown vegetable seeds and the speedy tomatoes have already pushed through the earth. The newts are very busy in the ponds. I have spoken to my family here and in Canada using Skype. In Canada my cousin's 8 year old daughter has been delighted to learn how to drive the lawnmower! In Bristol, I laughed with my nieces as we did timed drawing challenges over Zoom. I had to draw a cat and a volcano in 5 minutes. My mum and dad posted us some chocolates in a big box, I do miss giving them a cuddle but I know they are safe at home. I am very grateful that all of my family are well but I know that some people are not so lucky at this time. I have some family in a high rise flat and the children are finding it tricky to stay inside. Well done if you are all remembering to wash your hands! We have been enjoying PE with Joe Wicks; I am a little slower than my boys at home and I expect you can jump much higher than I do! Some of us are learning about bridges next week, so I thought I would share a photo of a bridge I made with my two little lads (I am being silly because I am now the smallest person at home!). It is an exciting subject and I have enjoyed planning for children's learning. It is so wonderful being a teacher and I miss you all very much.

Homemade weighing scales. A great idea. Well done!

Advanced Warning

Check your emails next week for more information for how our Home Learning will look from Week 2 of Term 5 and how work can be sent to your teachers.

Letter from Mrs Fricker

Hello children,
I hope that you had fun trying some of the Easter challenges this week as well as enjoying some chocolate eggs. This week to help us to keep active, my family had a day of sporting challenges that we set up for each other. I was last at keepie-uppies with a toilet roll, but came first in boules and even managed to score 3 points in the football crossbar challenge! I would love to see some more of the things you have been doing at home, so keep sending in photos!

Love from Mrs Fricker
